

Why are foreign banks holding over £80 billion of stolen African assets?

Photocredits (clockwise from main): L.Lartigue/USAID, L.Lartigue/USAID, Geoff Crawford/USAID.

accountable to me

Governments must show good leadership and be accountable to the people they serve. Corruption in some African countries has prevented money being spent on the people who need it most. Banks and companies in rich countries have profited from this misuse of money and resources. Rich countries need to act more responsibly towards African people and their environments.

GovernanceGovernanceGovernanceGovernance

Commission for Africa