

Why is the natural wealth of African countries often used to feed wars and not people?

Photo credits (clockwise from main): L.Lartigue/USAID, L.Downing/USAID, Sebastian Botesch/GlobalAware, L.Lartigue/USAID

stop using our wealth to kill us

Millions of people have died due to conflicts in Africa. Urgent action is needed. The governments and warring groups involved often use money from selling commodities such as oil, timber and diamonds to buy arms. Huge numbers of weapons are in conflict-affected regions. The international community is guilty of profiting from both trades. Conflict prevention and resolution is essential for affected communities to build a better future.

Peace & security Peace & security Peace & s

Commission for Africa